

Bioidentical Hormones.....Are they just for TV stars? Movie stars? Or rich people? We have seen a lot of information from Oprah, Suzanne Summers even Sylvester Stallone on the benefits of BHRT or Bioidentical Hormone Replacement Therapy. BHRT is in the spotlight and may be a safe and effective way for most men and women experiencing menopause, pre-menopause or andropause (male menopause) but it so much more than that. Public interest is at an all time high, who does not want to revisit that zest for life you felt in your 20s and 30s and get so many other health benefits. The answer is simple. Whether or not to take hormones is a personal decision. Blood testing and/or saliva testing is a scientific way to help address each person with all their individuality to see what might help to support or even restore balance in an aging body. By balancing and optimizing these hormone levels most patients report an improvement in muscle tone, decrease in body fat, greater energy and outlook on life, sharper thinking and memory, greater sexual desire and performance. Bioidentical Hormones or Natural Hormones are different from their synthetic counterparts. They are identical or what we call bioidentical in molecular structure to the hormones that your body produces in its glands. Physicians should support hormone imbalance or deficiencies with Bioidentical Hormone Replacement. We feel it is not only a safer but a more effective way to balance hormones due to the fact that formulas can be made specifically for the needs of each client and we all have different requirements. Formulas can be confirmed and adjusted with diagnostic testing to support the new Younger You!
